Within the Heart of the National Forest [Policy EN3 (5)], healthy mature trees and hedges must be retained unless removal is an absolute necessity. Also, mature trees in a state of decay are important to fauna and flora and hence biodiversity and should only be removed where they present a significant danger.

National Forest green infrastructure requirements need to include for maintenance arrangements over a much longer period than the current requirement of five years and be supported by a commuted sum. If such areas and associated planting are not adopted by a public body with future maintenance falling to residents, it is likely that such areas and planting will not be adequately maintained and will become a problem and a nuisance rather than an asset.

Policy Ec13 does not go far enough in encouraging tourism and should be actively promoting the provision of good public transport and higher quality accommodation. It should also seek to enhance access to the National Forest by creating new public rights-of-way where possible and a cycle route from Ashby Town Centre to the Hicks Lodge Cycle Centre via fields off Willesley Lane to avoid the narrow and winding route of Willesley Lane. Specific reference to the Hicks Lodge National Forest Cycle Centre should be included in Paragraph 8.85.
